We are the largest organization in New York doing a general re-1 estate business (over 100 employees). We have three offices in the best locations of their respective istricts. We are the only real estate concern publishing a monthly periodical in the interest of buyer, seller and renter, giving an opportunity to owners to edver, ise their properties free of expense.

During the past year we have closed 1,800 leases and sales of property in New York and adjacent thereto. What We Have Done for Others We Can Do for You

Our office management department offers you a dis-tinctive type of service that will effect considerable savings in maintenance and a decided increase in earnings For instance, a certain down-town office building was turned over to us after several other agents had it in charge. Within a few years we increased the rent roll from $80,000 to $240,000 gross rentals.

Another case in point is that of another down town fice building that was turned over to us with a gross rental of $135,000. In a short time we cut down the expenses and increased the gross rentals to $240,000.

Wild Fowl So Dense They Appeared to Be Clouds; at Times Like Approaching Fog.

LIMIT EASILY OBTAINED

Nonroik, Va., Jan. 4.-Commodore Fred Ingraham, Charles R. Loverwich and Charles F. Noyes, all of New York, have just reached here after four or five days of the best wild fowl shooting

The New York sportsmen came in the Joe, known from New York to Key West, an auxiliary sloop 50 feet long, 18 foot beam, 14 ton capacity, with sleeping acommodations for seven.

The boat got its name from its once famous culinary expert, Joe, quite a character in his way, who was the cook. The story is often told with glee that when company was entertained Joe re-galed himself in the clothes of a woman and served meals in women's costume, with a serving cap and apron, but on all other occasions he was as any other or-other occasions he was as any other or-dinary Southern cook and celebrated for the dishes that he served.

The sailing master of the Joe is Capt. George E. Rowley, who when Commodore Ingraham first met him was Mayor of Manteo, Va., the county seat, and the leading city of Roanoke Island, which, incidentally, we the first land, extiled incidentally, was the first land settled. Near Capt. Rowley's home was the birta-place of Virginia Dare, the first white woman born on American soil. Mayor Rowley was attracted to Commodore In-graham, with the result that he gave up his duties as Mayor of the town, and for the last seven or eight years has been a member of Commodore Ingraham's staff in charge of his cars and boats. In the galley as cook is Bob Matthews, a position he has held down for a quarter of a century. What dishes Matthews can produce in the small space allotted o the cook's galley is amazing.

From Perth Amboy the sloop went to New Brunswick and then into the Dela-ware and Raritan Canai. At Borden-town, N. J., the Joe entered the Dela-ware River and followed it to Delaware City, then into the Delaware and Chesa-peake Canal to Chesapeake City, thence way of the Elk River to the head of Chesapeake Bay at Turkey Point Proceeding the entire length of Chesapeake Bay to Hampton Roads the little boat and jolly company went on to Nor-folk, Va., and without sailing nights the log snowed that over 500 miles had been made in approximately five days.

From Norfolk Va., the Joe went on to Soo Decoy Ducks Carried.

At Roanoke Island a few days were devoted to replenishing the larder and the entire crew was given an experience in Southern fishing in December, with the result that a boundful supply of white perch striped base, crabs and celes were caught practically from the boat and several sacks of cysters also put and shourd.
